

Careers Education Information Advice and Guidance Policy 2025-2026

Principle

Careers education, information, advice, and guidance (CEIAG) makes a major contribution in preparing young people for the opportunities, responsibilities, and experiences of life in order to help them to make a successful transition to adulthood.

This includes supporting young people to achieve their full potential; empowering young people to plan and manage their own futures; providing comprehensive information on all options; raising aspirations; promoting equality, diversity, social mobility, and challenging stereotypes, whilst enabling young people to sustain employability and achieve personal and economic wellbeing throughout their lives. Schools also have a statutory duty to secure independent and impartial careers guidance for Years 8-13.

This policy sets out the Northleigh's arrangements for managing the access of providers to students at the school for the purposes of giving them information about the provider's education or training offers. This complies with the school's legal obligations under Section 42B of the Education Act 1997.

Introduction

For many students finding a pathway to Northleigh has not been an easy journey and leaving can be an extremely daunting and potentially insurmountable barrier, so providing information, advice, and guidance as to the next steps is vital. Our wellbeing mentors are the key personal to working with our students to find out what their career interest might be and obtaining information to make informed decisions. If students do have a career preference, then the correct subject opinions will need to be made for GCSE's, if these are required. Parents/carers also have a key part to play in relation to taking students to other provision open evenings.

Aims

Northleigh is committed to:

- achieving a range of outcomes for young people, including the careers and work-related outcomes.
- maximising benefits for students by using a whole school approach involving parents, carers, employers, and other relevant local agencies.

Programme

Students are entitled to careers education, information, advice, and guidance that is impartial and that is confidential. This will be integrated into their experience whilst at Northleigh.

It is differentiated to ensure progression through activities that are appropriate to students' stages of career learning, planning and development and is tailored, as required, to meet the needs of any individual.

All students in years 8-13 are entitled:

- To find out about technical education qualifications and apprenticeships opportunities;
- To hear from a range of local providers about the opportunities they offer, including technical education and apprenticeships – through options events, assemblies and group discussions and taster events;
- To understand how to make applications for the full range of academic and technical courses.

Partnership and Providers

Northleigh works with a range of partners to deliver the careers programme, including employers, higher and further education providers, parents and external careers provision.
